

This month, we're focusing our charitable efforts on an entrepreneur from Liberia

ANNIE'S STORY

Annie is a 35-year-old single mother with three children, all of whom live at home. She attended school through the 12th grade. Annie is a strong businesswoman who sells clothes, and has received startup capital from her partner and learned the trade from her mother. Though she has been generating sales for the past 10 years, her business has been hit hard by the COVID-19 crisis.

Annie has requested $350 so that she can purchase more clothes to sell to her customers. Her hope for the future is to build a house.

GIVING A HELPING HAND

We're proud to support this loan as it serves low-income individuals in rural Liberia where few alternative funding sources exist. Our goal, as always, is to assist men and women across the world who desire to expand their small businesses, generate employment opportunities, and provide new services in their communities.

If you're able, your support is needed more than ever. Join us in micro-lending at Kiva.org.
